

Davis Langdon is pleased to announce a merger with Blythe-Sanderson Group.

Blythe-Sanderson Group, with over 16 years experience, is a leader in the delivery of high quality consultancy services to many of Australia's employers, industry services and facility providers. Their services include building reviews, access consultancy, occupational therapy, occupational health and safety, training, and policy and action plan development .

For us the merger assists our clients to encapsulate the broad needs of people with disabilities and our ageing population, reflecting our community's increased awareness and call for action.
